

Accidental Author

BY ANDREW JOBLING

“As soon as you put this book down you will feel empowered. You will think, if this bozo can write bestselling books then I can do anything!”

Read it, enjoy it and use it to build your own belief that you are already good enough to be a bestselling author or achieve whatever you want ... This book has been written to encourage you, help you believe in yourself and teach you how to write your own published book(s)! If you are reading this section of the book then I assume you want to be a published author. Believe me when I say; you can do it and it will be one of the best things you will ever do. Most importantly for you right now — it's not as hard as you think.”

DESCRIPTION Bestselling author and former AFL football player, Andrew Jobling, has written a book to teach anyone how they can write their own bestselling novel. He believes that if an ex-footballer, non-reader, personal trainer and non-academic with no experience or qualifications can write bestselling books then you can too! The former St Kilda player, who has also written three bestselling books (Dance Until It Rains, Simply Strength and Eat Chocolate, Drink Alcohol and be Lean and Healthy) believes you will be ready to write your own bestseller before you finish reading this book.

AUTHOR Andrew Jobling played senior AFL football for the St Kilda Football Club and has over 25 years experience in educating, speaking, business development, leadership, training elite athletes and health & wellbeing. He is the bestselling author of 'Eat Chocolate, Drink Alcohol and be Lean & Healthy', 'Simply Strength' and 'Dance Until It Rains' which have sold in excess of 100,000 copies, and the creator of the online workshop 'One Word at a Time' which is helping thousands of people all over the world on their journey to become published authors. A dynamic, entertaining and inspiring speaker, Andrew lives in Melbourne, Australia and spends his time sharing the secrets that have changed countless lives.
